AIR BOMBS HIT NEAR NORMAN THOMAS IN RAID

Former Marion Man and Wife Have Narrow Escape in Valencia, Spain.

200 REPORTED KILLED

Shower of Explosives Dropped in City; British Ship Hit.

Norman Thomas, native of Marion and several times Socialist candidate for President, and his wife were reported uninjured in a terrific bombardment of the city of Valencia, Spain, today, an Associated Press dispatch stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were among several Americans reported to have escaped the dawn raid in which an estimated 200 persons were killed.

Mr. Thomas was born and educated in Marion and since leaving here has become the leader of the Socialist party in the United States.

Five Planes in Attack

The attack was made by five insurgent planes, described by communist observers as Italian Caproni. The Associated Press stated.

Coming in from the sea and diving on the temporary capital of the Spanish government an hour before daybreak, the planes dropped 50 bombs of 500 pounds each.

By noon 75 of the dead had been identified.

The American consul Milton K. Wilcox was caught in a rain of glass but was unhurt. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and several other Americans were housed a few hundred feet from where three bombs fell. The building housing the American embassy was damaged, but not the embassy itself.

An English boat, the Cadin, anchored in the harbor, was reported hit, with seven crew members killed and eight injured.

Other reports said a bomb also hit the English steamer Pinzon, but that no serious damage resulted.

At least 50 buildings were wrecked. Thousands of windows were shattered.

Many Missing

Many were injured and many unaccounted for, with rescue workers finding more bodies hourly as they cleared away debris.

The building housing the Paraguay consulate was wrecked and seven occupants killed but Consul Celso Duprey and his wife, mother, sister and four children escaped injury.

The tower of one shattered building alone remained standing. Its big clock had stopped at the very minute the first bomb hit—2:45 a. m.

Another bomb hit the French bank and set the top floor afire. Windows in the telephone building, next door, were smashed.

STATE TAX ORDER AFFECTS INSURANCE

Life Policies Subject to Certain Levies, County Auditor Advised.

Collections of taxes on paid life insurance policies has been ordered by the state tax commission this year under a new ruling, County Auditor Harry V. Mounts said today. Payments are being accepted now at the office of County Treasurer Homer D. Cole for both paid life insurance and annuities.

Mr. Mounts said Marion county has never included paid insurance policies on the intangible personal property tax duplicate and that they were placed on the list this year purely by order of the state commission.

The commission has assessed against holders of such policies a five per cent tax on all dividends paid since 1932.

Mr. Mounts estimated at least 200 persons in the county will have to pay the tax. Payment of the tax for the entire five year period since 1932 can be made in full, or installment arrangements may be made.

In the future, the tax will be placed regularly on the personal property tax duplicate each year, according to Mr. Mounts' interpretation of the commission's ruling. The tax on annuities has been collected regularly, he said.

Dr. Altmaier Appointed O. S. U. Board Member

DR. C. J. ALTMAIER

Named by Gov. Davey To Serve 7-Year Term as Trustee.

Dr. C. J. Altmaier, Marion physician and surgeon, was appointed today by Governor Davey to a seven-year term on the board of trustees of Ohio State university.

He succeeds Julius F. Stone of Columbus, whose term expired May 13. Dr. Altmaier's term will expire on May 13, 1944.

Dr. Altmaier is a graduate of Ohio State university in both medicine and dentistry. He is a native of Columbus and practiced medicine and dentistry there before moving to Marion in 1915.

The board of seven trustees controls the policies of the university. Its members, aside from Dr. Altmaier, are Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, chairman, Herbert S. Atkinson of Columbus, Mrs. Edith Campbell of Cincinnati, Harry A. Caton of Coshocton, L. E. Laybourne of Springfield and John Kaiser of Marietta.

Scope of Duties

The board has general supervision of all lands, buildings and other property belonging to the university, and has authority to fix and regulate the course of instruction and prescribe extent and character of experiments to be made at the university. The board is required to meet at least three times a year and as many additional times as may become necessary to conduct its business.

Dr. Altmaier will serve without salary. In his official duties he will be in frequent contact with a former Marion man, James Lewis Merrill, vice president of the university and one of two men prominently mentioned recently as possible successor to President George Rightmire upon his retirement.

Former State Employe

Before coming to Marion Dr. Altmaier was associated with the medical department of the state industrial commission under Governor Cox. He is a member of the Marion Academy of Medicine, Ohio State Medical society, American Medical association, Northwestern Medical society and with Nu Sigma Nu, a national professional fraternity. He was graduated from Ohio State university in dentistry in 1901 and in medicine in 1905.

Dr. Altmaier is Eighth district member of the Democratic State Central committee and is chairman of the Marion County Democratic Central and Executive committees.

He received his commission this morning. It was signed by Governor Davey and by William Kennedy, secretary of state.

RATE HEARING TIME EXTENDED

City Water Case Continued Until June 16 at Request of Attorneys.

MORE TIME FOR STUDY

Both Sides Want To Examine Engineers' Report Before Proceeding.

The state utilities commission today delayed the date for resuming the Marion water rate hearing from June 8 to June 16 to allow the city and the company additional time to prepare their cases.

The action was in response to requests made yesterday by City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart and Jerome Powers of New York City, vice president of the Marion Water Co., in telephone conversations yesterday with Charles F. Schaber, of Cheyrus, chairman of the commission.

In a conference at the city solicitor's office, Mr. Carhart and Mr. Powers decided to make a telephone request for the commission's permission to study the rough working notes of the commission's engineers who are making a study of the water plant properly and records under instructions of the commission.

Although the commission has not notified the city and the company of its decision on the request for the working notes, it was understood the eight-day extension of the hearing date was ordered to give both sides an opportunity to study the engineers' report before the hearing is resumed. It is expected the engineers' report will be finished in 11 days.

City Solicitor Carhart said he planned to file a formal request with the commission today asking for the working notes even though the extension will permit some time for a study of the engineers' final report.

The June 8 date was set when the commission adjourned a hearing held May 11 and 12 after learning the city had not arranged for an appraisal of the water company's property.

The hearing is on the company's appeal from a city ordinance proposing a 12½ per cent reduction in water rates.

RIVAL CHURCHMEN RECOVER PROPERTY

Factions Lists $1,600,000 Worth Regained from Presbyterian Opponents.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 28 — A special committee reported to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. today that it had recovered approximately $1,600,000 worth of property from the Presbyterian Church of America.

The property was taken by former members, officials said, when they withdrew from the parent church over theological and ecclesiastical differences and formed the Presbyterian Church of America a year ago.

The committee said further that it expected to recover an additional $400,000 worth of property from the ultra-fundamentalist denomination.

Meanwhile, the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. is awaiting a Pennsylvania court decision in its suit to prohibit the so-called schismatic organization from using the name of Presbyterian Church of America.

Recovery of the property was reported by the committee on legal procedure as the general assembly entered the second day of a session that will last until June 2 under the direction of a new moderator, Dr. William Hiram Foulkes of Newark, N. J.

Dr. Foulkes, pastor of the old first church in Newark and a member of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, was elected on the first ballot yesterday by the

FORD SAYS UAW RIOT WAS FAKE

Claims Disorders at Rouge Plant Were Arranged To Cover Organization "Failure."

ALSO HITS NEWSPAPERS

Union Leader Hurls Charges of "Fascism" and "Employing Thugs" at Company.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 28—The Ford Motor Co. said today that a riot at the gates of its Rouge plant was "staged" to "cover up failure" of the United Automobile Workers of America to organize Ford workers.

In a formal statement the company attributed the disorder, in which 16 unionists were hurt Wednesday, to the UAWA and unidentified newspapers which the company said have demanded a "Ford strike story" for six months.

Charges of "fascism" and employing "thugs and mobsters" were hurled at Henry Ford by the union's international president, Homer Martin, who withheld comment until later when he learned of the Ford statement.

Newspapers Blamed

"The demonstration Wednesday against Ford workers on Ford property," the company said, "was staged by newspapers which, for the last six months, have demanded the production of a 'Ford strike story,' and by the UAWA which required some dramatic occurrence to cover up its conspicuous failure to influence Ford employes.

"The raiders were accompanied by government men from Washington whose utmost efforts for several months have failed to involve the Ford Motor Co. in irregularities affecting labor or otherwise.

"We make this statement reluctantly because, in the present state of widely organized misinformation, we have little confidence that the facts can be fully understood until events are further unrolled."

Company spokesmen had nothing additional to say in issuing the statement last night.

Leader Injured

The union members injured in the fighting with fists and feet—including Richard T. Frankensteen, organization director, and Walter Reuther, president of the west side local—have said that it was company police who pummelled and hurled them down a stairway instead of workmen.

Martin said the "blackshirts" of Dearborn are not going to stop the organization of Ford workers. The

NO ISSUE OF STAR MONDAY, MAY 31

Following long established custom, The Star will not be published Monday, May 31, which has been designated for the holiday observance of the nation's annual Memorial Day.

SCHOOLS HERE TO BE DISMISSED MONDAY

Will Be Holiday in Annual Tribute to War Dead.

Marion public and parochial schools will be dismissed Monday in observance of Memorial day.

By agreement of the board of education yesterday afternoon Supt. C. A. Hudson today announced that public schools will be closed Monday to give pupils and their parents an opportunity to join in the week-end observance of the holiday.

St. Mary's parochial school will follow the annual custom of closing for Memorial day.

The day was not set aside for public school observance when the school calendar was made up last fall because there was no indication at that time that there would be a general observance in the city, it was explained.

By dismissing Monday, the school program will be pushed ahead one day and pupils will return to school on Saturday, June 5, for their grade cards instead of Friday as scheduled, Supt. Hudson said. It will be necessary to have the final day of school on Saturday, in order to meet the school foundation program requirement of 1150 school days a year.

Pupils will return for their grade cards at times specified at the various buildings. Each principal has been notified of the change in schedule and will set the time for grade card distribution.

POLICEMAN'S DEATH SPURS BRADY HUNT

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28 — Alfred Brady, swaggering desperado, and his small band of quick-shooting outlaws continued to elude a far-flung search today, a hunt intensified by Indiana state policemen following the death of their fellow officer, 23-year-old Paul V. Minneman.

Minneman, a state trooper for two years and a bridegroom of only five months, died last night at Logansport from 23 bullet wounds inflicted by guns of the Brady gangsters who ambushed Minneman and a deputy sheriff Elmer Craig, the deputy, was shot in the foot and chest but is expected to recover.

UNION TIGHTENS GRIP ON STEEL INDUSTRY

GIRL, 3, KILLED NEAR RICHWOOD

Struck by Car as She Runs Into Road While at Play.

DIES FEW HOURS LATER

Fatal Accident Occurs in Front of Home of Victim's Grandfather.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, May 28 — Shirlee Kathleen Vance, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vance of Richwood, was fatally injured when hit by an automobile driven by Aldo M. Lee, 45, of Findlay yesterday about 4 p. m. as she ran across the highway at her grandfather's home where she was visiting, three miles southeast of here.

The girl was hit by the left front fender and bumper of the car and was carried about 25 feet, according to Highway Patrolman H. H. Wilson, who was called to the scene from the Marion substation. She suffered a broken left leg at the knee, fractured pelvis, brain concussion and abrasions about the head and body. The driver, who was unable to avoid hitting the child, stopped immediately and took her and her mother, who was nearby, to the office of a Richwood physician.

Remains Unconscious

The child died at 5 o'clock last night without regaining consciousness.

The scene of the accident is located directly in front of the child's grandfather's home, the George Styer residence, three miles south of Richwood on state route 4. Mrs. Vance, Shirlee Ann and a 13-months-old brother Hal were visiting at the home yesterday, when the accident occurred.

Shirlee, with two of her mother's brothers, Keith, 12 and Kenneth, 10, were playing on the front lawn. The home is located on the west side of the highway, and the girl ran into the street for no apparent reason, highway patrolmen reported. Lee, who was southbound, enroute to Columbus, applied the brakes of his car and swerved to the side in an effort to avoid hitting the child. As she heard the tires sliding on the pavement, she stopped, and Lee was unable to miss her, he told Patrolman Wilson.

Rushed to Physician

Lee stopped, took the child and Mrs. Vance to the office of Dr. H. C. Duke in Richwood. After completing his trip to Columbus Lee returned to Richwood but was released, highway patrolmen said.

The child, three years old April 15, was born at Pharisburg, the daughter of Herbert and Leila Styer Vance. Her parents, 13-months-old brother Hal, and grandfather survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Sanders funeral home in Richwood, Rev. B. F. McKinnon will be in charge and burial will be made in the Claiborne cemetery. The body will be at the Vance home until the funeral.

CITY SCHOOLS GET SHARE OF FUNDS

Marion city schools today were granted $48,182.70 by the state school foundation in a distribution of $11,297,377.83 from the sales tax revenue, An Associated Press dispatch from Columbus stated. This is the second distribution of the year, Marion having received $45,000 for the first quarter also.

The total state distribution was broken down as follows: city schools, $5,938,951; exempted villages, $675,175.22 and counties the remainder.

Marion Man Has Served Scout Movement in Two Countries

Appointment on National Jamboree Staff High Spot in Long Career.

BY BOB BYRD

A Marion man who lived in England at the time the Boy Scout movement originated in that country and who has been closely associated with scouting since its inception, is taking more than ordinary interest in preparations for the first national Jamboree of Boy Scouts to be held in Washington, D. C., June 30-July 9.

He is Arthur S. Brooks, scout executive for the Harding area which includes Marion, Crawford, Wyandot and Morrow counties.

In an interview at his office on the third floor of the Barnhart building, Mr. Brooks reviewed his associations with the scouting movement, told of its history and the story behind its inception and growth.

Since Mr. Brooks, as a boy of 14, became a member of one of the early troops organized in England where he lived until 1911, the Boy Scout movement has swept 73 countries of the world and approximately 10,000,000 men and boys have been members.

On Camp Staff

At the national jamboree Mr. Brooks will serve by appointment of the national council as camp inspector for a section of the small city of 30,000 scouts which will be set up in Washington for the duration of the Jamboree. He will be in charge of inspection of tentage, quarters, kitchens, sanitation and personal appearance.

Mr. Brooks, along with many other English school pupils, got his first taste of scouting when a schoolmaster announced that the customary half-holiday cricket games that were a part of the school program would be dropped temporarily in favor of some of the new tracking games outlined in literature of the Boy Scout organization, then new. He recalls that the word scouting was an exciting name, and the boys took to the games with interest. This interest led to the organization of patrols and troops.

The colorful adventures and conquests of Sir Robert Baden-Powell in South Africa and the handbook, "Aids to Scouting" he had published there for his soldiers were important factors in the background of the beginning of the Boy Scout movement, Mr. Brooks said. The handbook, while published for adult soldiers, held an appeal for English boys that created a heavy demand for the book in England. Boys' clubs began corresponding with him, asking for suggestions about their activities and rules. They found him keenly interested and anxious to be helpful. It was in one of his letters to a club that he suggested the "good turn daily" that has been adopted by scouts throughout the world as one of their projects.

Beginning of Movement

To meet the demand growing out of this interest among boys, Baden-Powell in 1908 wrote a Handbook for Boys. Its publication is regarded generally as the formal beginning of the Boy Scout movement, although he had experimented with the organization idea the year before, by conducting a camp for boys, and wrote the book largely as a result of the interest shown at the camp.

Recalling the immediate popularity of the Handbook for Boys, Mr. Brooks pointed out it was one of the first books to give any serious attention to recreation for

Teams Selected for Poppy Day Sale Saturday

Legion Post Auxiliary Will Conduct Drive To Honor Dead and Aid Living.

Women of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis post No. 162, of the American Legion, will be on the streets early Saturday morning with baskets of poppies, the memorial flower, offering them in exchange for contributions to aid the war's living victims, disabled veterans, their families, and the families of the deceased veterans. They will continue working the greater part of the day, giving every one an opportunity to "honor the dead and aid the living" by wearing a poppy.

Preparations for the observance of poppy day here have been completed by the auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Baldauf, general chairman. This year, instead of working throughout the entire day, the women will sell the flowers from 7 a. m. until 3 p. m. only. Proceeds of the sale, as in former years, will be used to carry on the auxiliary's welfare work in the families of less fortunate veterans in Marion. Thirty-five hundred flowers have been purchased by the auxiliary to be disposed of in the sale, which is the seventeenth to be sponsored by this organization. The workers which make up the various teams

BIDS TO BE TAKEN ON ROAD CONTRACT

Route 98 Improvement from Waldo North Estimated at Over $103,000.

Bids on a contract for an improvement program for state route 98 from Waldo to "Five Points," totaling approximately $103,000, are now being accepted by the state highway director at Columbus, Herbert R. Krebs, division engineer for the state department, said today. The final day for submitting bids is June 15 at 10 a. m.

The length of the improvement is 10.958 miles and will extend from the intersection of Route 98 just south of Waldo to the intersection of Route 30 five miles east of Marion. The work will include grading berms and paving the entire length with waterbound macadam surface treated.

The pavement will be 20 feet wide and the roadway 30 feet wide. The work is to be finished in 100 working days.

The road known sometimes as the Columbus-Sandusky road, was taken over from the county by the state about 1922 and has had several treatments since then.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check equal to five per cent of the estimated cost of the improvement, $103,861.67. Bids may be addressed to John Bueter Jr., state highway director.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Leaves When He Learns Dicky Is Away.

I CAUGHT my breath at the name as Philip Veritzen asked where Dicky was. I was not prepared for the query, and with the vision of my husband speeding toward the distant hotel suite of the Veritzens, that her father-in-law might not know the had come to the camp, I found myself so confused that if Philip Veritzen had been studying me closely, he surely would have suspected that I was keeping something from him.

But fortunately he was not looking directly at me when he put the question, and I was able to pull myself together and answer him with apparent nonchalance. I even was able to provide a plausible excuse for Dicky's possible meeting with him when Mr. Veritzen should return to his hotel.

"I am so sorry," I said, "but he is not here. He drove down toward Lacotia on an errand. I expect him back within the next half hour. You will see him then."

His To Leave

"Not unless I meet him on the road," Mr. Veritzen said rising, and I was glad that I had given Dicky's specific route. He evidently suspected nothing, and I breathed freely again.

"Oh, must you go so soon?" I protested, but singing a paean of triumph in my heart. Barring accidents, Dicky should have deposited Mary at the hotel and be well on his way back.

"You are very flattering," Mr. Veritzen smiled, while I inwardly raged at his invariable custom of turning a commonplace of speech into a personal tribute to himself.

"But I positively must get back to the hotel and the hospital," he went on. "If Mary has not returned, I shall have my hands full, and even if she has, I am sure she has not had time to do the errands Princess Olga wished. I shall have to attend to them myself."

I firmly put down the desire to shout raucously, "I hope you do," and murmured instead a repeated assurance that I was sure he would find Mary at the hotel.

"I am inclined to trust your optimism," he said, bending low over my hand. And then he was gone. Hank and Bill, who evidently had been watching his movements closely from some covert near by, came out of their hiding place and entered the cabin.

"Oh, boy!" Hank exclaimed. "Am I glad to see that bird's back!"

"You'd better be planning your best getaway if he forgets something and comes back after it," his brother growled. "I don't imagine either your stock or mine is very high with him just now."

"That's okay by me," Hank retorted. "Just so my stock's all right with Aunt Madge, I should shed a tear over what old Veritzen thinks of me."

Boys Are Praised

"Your stock and William's are 'touching an all time high'—I guess that's the right phrase, boys. But I do want you both to show how grateful I am to you for your quick wit and the diversion you managed so as to give Mary time to get away."

"Aw, that was nothing," both boys answered together, then Hank added with a chuckle:

"Did you see the torn place in his coat where my fish hook went in?"

"No, the coat looked perfectly all right to me," I rejoined truthfully.

"Well, we did a good job of smoothing out, at that," William said. "But I'll bet we couldn't get a recommendation for a tailor's job from him. That isn't bothering us though. What we're worrying about is Mary. Is that old devil trying to make any trouble for her? Because if he is, Hank and I are going down where he's staying and smear him all over the landscape."

ELECTRIC CABLE IDEA

An Ohio man, born in New York, furnished the idea for covering an electric cable to be laid beneath water which made ocean cables possible. He was Jeptha Wade born in Geneva, N. Y., in 1811.

Wade was the son of a civil engineer. His attention was turned to the telegraph just after Morse made his invention. Wade established the first station in the west at Jackson, Mich., on the newly built Michigan Central railroad. Many little independent telegraph lines soon sprang up and he was instrumental in combining those into one great system, known at first as Wade's lines and later as the Western Union telegraph, he being the first general manager. It was to carry his telegraph lines under the Mississippi at St. Louis that Wade invented his cable.

TWO YOUTHS SPARED IN AX-KILLING CASE

Jury Returns Verdict of Second Degree Murder, Carrying One to 30 Years

By The Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 28—Gladys MacKnight, 17, and her former choir boy sweetheart, David Wightman 19 were convicted last night of second-degree murder carrying a penalty of from one to 30 years in prison for the hatchet slaying of the girl's mother.

The youthful pair, who once played tennis together but turned against each other in the trial received the verdict of the jury of middle-aged business men with drawn faces and clenched jaws.

From the witness stand they turned bitter accusations upon each other—each contending the other struck the fatal hatchet blows upon Mrs Helen MacKnight 47 Bayonne club woman.

But last night as they awaited the verdict Court Officer Edward Walsh said the youth wanted to shake Gladys hand and wish her luck.

The request was referred to the sheriff who refused but the next time Donald and Gladys appeared in court together he turned toward her and smiled. She smiled back. It was the first time they had even looked each other squarely in the eye.

The high school graduate and her six foot co-defendant seemed unnerved by the verdict but neither showed signs of tears. They will be sentenced next week.

Hougendobler, received the girl's award on the basis of courage, honor, scholarship, companionship and service. Mr. Konold, past commander, department of Ohio, of the American Legion, addressed the student body on the program of the American Legion. His address was enjoyed and well received by the student body.

Besides presenting the awards to the individual students Mr. Konold presented the high school with two plaques from the American Legion, upon which are engraved the names of the boys and girls who have received the annual awards.

FISHING LICENSE TIME IS CHANGED

New 50-cent fishing licenses will be required after midnight Saturday instead of after June 1, according to information received today from the state conservation department by Roy Abel, president of the Marion County Fish & Game Protective association. Clerk of Courts Carl F. Haberman, who has sold more than 50 of the new permits, said he has been dating them June 1 in pursuance of instructions received from the department earlier this month.

Mr. Abel said he has been informed that it will be necessary to have the new permits for any kind of fishing—rod and reel, pole or plain string—after midnight tomorrow.

Mr. Haberman believes there will be no attempt made to prosecute persons using anything excepting rod and reel without a new license before June 1. At present rod and reel fisherman must have a $1 license, which is to be replaced by the new 50-cent permit.

A Personal Message to the People of Marion and North Central Ohio from the Management of This New Store

"The Grand Opening Day of The Wilson Furniture Company will be an occasion that will never erase itself from my memory. We are bringing every resource at our command into action in order to make it important as well to the buying public which we shall serve.

"Saturday, May 20th, at nine a. m. when we officially open the doors of our new store, I will be experiencing the realization of an ambition of many years. That ambition was to return and engage again in the furniture business in this city. Our new store and its opening fulfills that ambition one hundred per cent. Our location at 171-173 East Center Street is the same where I conducted The Marion Furniture Company from 1921 through 1930. Now, completely redecorated and extensively improved and remodeled, this location will house a store that is completely and entirely new in every respect.

"The Wilson Furniture Company has no connection with any other store in Marion or elsewhere. It will observe a policy of offering the best available furniture and appliance values to its customers, purchasable under dignified and practical credit arrangements. Its success will depend largely upon our ability to establish a large list of regular customers and to that end we intend presenting frequent offerings of super values by which we may broaden the influence and service of the store. It will pay you to follow our advertising regularly.

"To the many people of this community who as I may already count as friends and to all the others, whom we are equally desirous of greeting, I extend a personal and cordial invitation to attend our Grand Opening, Saturday, May 20th. Visit us then or whenever you can.

FRIDAY MAY 28 1937

The Barn and the Horse

From a petition being circulated in Ohio under sponsorship of Labor's Non Partisan League which seeks to rebuke Sen Donahey for not supporting the President's court packing bill these words are taken "the people are tired of the judicial dictatorship hitherto being exercised and now being exercised by the courts particularly the supreme court"

This is a political phrase for describing the Roosevelt administration's angry resentment of the court's unfavorable opinions on certain new laws Use of the argument by a labor organization implies a curious faith in politicians for this reason

Politicians are variable They win and lose elections In a few years a reaction against new deal reforms might crowd congress with politicians who would be unsympathetic to labor It might put into the White House a president they could not trust

Such a congress and such a president might cooperate to pass laws which would be unfavorable to labor's interests But granted a supreme court with its power of review undiminished labor's interests still would be protected against all attack Just as the rights of states have been protected by recent judicial decisions Politicians find it impossible to swim against the tide Judges can and do their greater glory frequently do Where have Tom Mooney and the Scottsboro Negroes ever found any important champions outside the supreme court

There are two sides to the question of checks and balances in government. The judicial dictatorship to which the administration objects no always so strenuously as some of its supporters how ever has taught Americans more about the meaning of constitutional government than they ever knew before It would be a great pity if in the hour when they are discovering what it means to govern themselves under the Constitution they were to be persuaded by excited leadership to turn down the barn to get the horse out

Lean the Lion

There's nothing funny about Leon Trotzky and there's nothing funny either about announcement that Russia's red army of 1 300 000 will be enlisted in the fight against the bearded little exile in Mexico City

Nevertheless the caricature of hordes of grim gunbearers on the trail of Leo the Lion is more likely to tickle the funny bone of Americans than it is to stir up their indignation or their sympathy

For Trotzky is safe in Mexico and probably well guarded He hasn't been inside Russia for many years His only contact with that land is through ideas but the masters of the new order there have made that contact as potent one by their policy of suppression They have made a martyr of their victim something all intelligent American policemen know better than to do any more

The pen still is mightier than the sword When all the Trotzkyites have been shot in the head or picked off somewhere to die more slowly the Trotzky ideas still will be swinging up between the boots of the earnest peasant boys who have been given the task of scrapping it out of the country—1 300 000 of them to one

Prepared

The idea seems to be that men shouldn't be permitted to forget that nature always has the upper hand They always expect too much

During winter they look forward to days and days of balmy weather with every growing thing in its place and every place adorned with some growing thing

Then when spring comes they get days and days of rain they can't let fires go out dandelions grow where grass should be grass grows where nothing should be and nothing appears where something should be

Whereupon they look forward to summer when rain will cease and everything will be warm and completely settled Then summer really comes though the temperature usually is too high there isn't enough rain and there's too much dust That makes the setting for winter—

But it too turns out to be something less than satisfactory There's too much snow or not enough too much cold weather or not enough

The fact is though that the hopefuls have been hammered into submission for the time being They don't expect very much any more in the way of a perfect spring so maybe they'll be satisfied with what they get from now on

Wage Bill Has Many Faults

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1937 by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON May 28—Tommy Corcoran former member nowadays of the "brain trust" wrote the bill on maximum wages and hours which President Roosevelt is demanding that congress shall pass

If the measure really were limited to the minimum wage assurances to the vast number of working people in America it would be established a maximum hour schedule so it would be one of the finest social reforms that could be devised in a democracy

But unfortunately the bill does not do what it professes to do In the first place it exempts 76 per cent of the concerns establishments in America and confines the measure to the remaining 24 per cent where a large number of plants already have minimum wages of around $15 and a 40-hour week

This impression of the futility of the measure is derived from the fact that the bill proposes to exempt all establishments where there are 20 workers or less Reliable figures are available to the effect that about 76 per cent of all the enterprises of the country employ 20 or less workers

There are other important and significant features of the proposed bill which will subject it to severe criticism on Capitol Hill For one thing the bill does not require that Negroes shall receive pay equal to that of white men when employed in the same kind of labor Nor does it require that women be paid equal to men when doing the same work

Certainly the many northern Democrats who won their elections in 1936 and expect to win them again in 1938 will not wish to risk the loss of their Negro supporters by permitting any color discrimination Are for members of congress from the south they have been assured informally by the administration that the national wages board to be created by the proposed law will take care of their situations so long discrimination between white and colored labor in the south may be continued

But the assurance can hardly be permanent if the power is to be concentrated in a national board Surely if the Republicans come into power they will not dare to permit the national wages board to discriminate against negro labor This are many embarrassments being piled up of a political nature but these are really incidental compared to the economic embarrassments that lie ahead

Will Boost Relief Bill

The actual operations of the proposed minimum wage and maximum hour law would of course greatly increase the relief bill of the nation This would come about through the fact that employees now getting less than the proposed minimum of about $15 say $10 per week would no doubt be considered to be worth the extra pay Employers would be inclined to get rid of the inefficient help and hire efficient workers This would mean that men and women 55 or 60 years of age who now work at odd jobs in big plants paying less than $15 a week would be thrown out of employment and forced onto relief On the other hand there is an extraordinary number of persons die between the ages of 18 to 25 according to government figures So a readjustment in the upper brackets of age as well as the lower brackets—just where the child labor angle—would seem to be inevitable It will into a good deal of hardship and some cruelty in individual cases but under the new deal the effect on the individual is less important than the supposed good of the state

The proposed bill gives almost unlimited power to the national board of five persons who are virtually to fix wages in the minimum scales The next step then will have to be to fix wages above the minimum too For in many companies the same thing will happen that occurred under the NRA In order to meet the minimum wage requirements the workers in the group just above the minimum did not get increases in pay and in some instances were even given less work because the sum total of the payroll had to be spread to take care of the minimum required by law

Unless employers are able to find the money to take care of the minimum rate through cutting other expenses and paying less they will have to add it to their production costs This means higher prices for the people generally in the things they buy Likewise if 76 per cent of the manufacturing establishments are exempted from the operations of the proposed law prices in this group about minimum wages than much work will go to these small units and the larger plants will be compelled to find a way to meet this competition in which human labor will be exploited by the weak instead of by the strong employers

Situation of Labor

On its face it would seem that congress could literally dictate its law making function by writing in a board of five persons the right to formulate exceptions to the rule about minimum wages exceptions that shall govern as between industries and between persons differentials also perhaps as between communities

No such power has ever been granted before except in the NRA and a unanimous supreme court of liberals and conservatives held that law to be unconstitutional

It was Justice Cardozo who declared that the granting by congress to code authorities or to government agencies that right to write regulations having the effect of new laws "delegation run riot" As Justice Cardozo said in writing it seems to go very far to the same thing

Minimum wage laws in principle are not

The Rockefeller Legend

By the Associated Press Feature Service

I've done all the harm I can do in this world I've done all the good I can do But I would like to think I've a hundred —John D Rockefeller to George Nichols former mayor of Ormond Fla Rockefeller's winter home

The longer Rockefeller lived the longer grew the Rockefeller legend He never did his century goal by a little more than two years and he had been out of the business and financial picture for decades But the anecdotes continuing to pile up guaranteed Rockefeller a place as one of America's most colorful figures

Dimes Make Title

Rigby often a guest at Rockefeller's homes recalls some of the anecdotes that best point up the oil mans character

The cost of a peck of potatoes helped win Rockefeller his title Neighbor John

Just a few days after he bought his home in Ormond 10 years ago says Rigby he asked me to check over his local bills He thought he had been charged 10 cents too much for a peck of potatoes and he was afraid that if he paid extra prices the price level for everybody might rise He told me he wanted to be a part of the community in every way I passed along his ideas and folks began to think of him as our new neighbor and then as Neighbor John

He liked that name disliked John D His household spoke of him as Mr R and he always referred to our household or the folks who are giving us such a beautiful garden —never to his servants

Rockefeller appreciated humor and often made little jokes of his own Of which brought him his fortune was a favorite subject Some years ago he and Rigby were sitting on the front porch of the winter home when a town workman began repairing the road Suddenly the workman fled fumes from the hot asphalt were blowing over the porch He apologized

Rockefeller silenced him Rigby recalls

Began Why that's all right Luther—don't you know I like the smell of it"

On one Christmas party says Rigby Rockefeller presented himself as a newspaper cartoon had caricatured him as giggled and he did and to his host and financed around the room One guest who took moving pictures decorated them at Rockefeller's request

One of Rockefeller's favorite stories concerned a ride he took in New Jersey The chauffeur stopped at a country filling station and ordered five gallons

Not enough to get more than five gallons for but the car the young girl at the pump advised

I will fix it alone the chauffeur insisted

Then he'd turned to Rockefeller And here are you going" she asked

I am going to Tarrytown Rockefeller replied smiling

The car told him will need more than five gallons of gasoline

When Jack Miller arrived from the north little fall and he stood in the upstairs room of his cottage whispered the curious fact the old man real fear was Ridgby was of "evil eye and folks and a siren were here to guard against the no criminals

Invest All Nickel

Rigby tells how Rockefeller's dime habit started One day in 1913 or 1914 Rockefeller was waiting for a ferry across the Hudson river near his Pocantico Hills estate New York A little girl walked up and began singing to him Rockefeller took out his pocket and pulled out a nickel a penny

Child he said that's all I have I'll give you the penny to spend and the five cents' piece to invest Put it in the bank

Says he was giving the same amount to adults as well as children advising all to spend 4 cents and invest the nickel Pocketful was reported to carry with him says Rigby "I guess that is the reason he changed to dimes—they were easier to carry

Sizes Up Hitler

As Rockefeller drew closer to the century mark he gradually dropped many of his activities including golf time giving autographs But he still tried to keep up with the news Each day his attendants read to him such outstanding stories as the bankers take says Rigby

He'd look at the headlines then ask someone all the latest Read me what it says about congress or whatever topic caught his notice Rockefeller couldn't read but was conceding his eyesight but occasionally he wanted to do his own reading

I was back chatting with him the morning after Lindbergh landed in Paris We had been discussing reports of the flight over the radio the night before

As I was Mr Lindbergh the butler came in the room with the paper Rockefeller inquired Make up Give me my paper I don't want anyone to read to me about the young man Hindbergh I want to read it myself

After reading the section Rockefeller said This is some young man who's going to do in his day

Gas

Sniveling apologists who strained their imaginations to find reasons for blaming the United States when the Hindenburg went up in smoke are held up to ridicule by subsequent events

Though some facts are yet to be wrangled about it is plain now that the gaseous contrivance that blew into the United States from the Germans was the supply of help

Germany at the moment happens to be controlled by politicians who have no utterance for ideas which aren't their own When German airship builders asked about help in the politicians said listen to them Hydrogen would have to do they were told Helium even if it could be obtained was too expensive so airship engineers relied upon and lo the Hindenburg

Germans now wants helium The United States apparently is going to make it available Why didn't we let it be? Now let the apologists forgetting that the Germans themselves have something to do with this make it too

Opposite Views On Court Tussle

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON May 28—Two explosive ideas are being floated from what President Roosevelt has been saying about continuing his supreme court issue He has told half a dozen new dealers here are to be decided by the court in the distant future and indicated he has confidence that the court will uphold all the legal viewpoints Some say this means he will continue his drive others say it's up to him to wait to see

What he has done lately however is subject to but one conclusion

EXAMPLE ONE — The White House has flocked congress with important new legislative objects (wages and hours farm control electric power conservation as yet to come) but at the outset of this court argument the announced program was to keep the court subject before congress to the exclusion of all business until final action was forced

EXAMPLE TWO—Senators noticed the relaxation of inside White House pressure immediately the bill was defeated 10 to 8 by the senate judiciary committee

Wise congressional authorities believe the legislation will be kept suspended as long as possible and if possible permanently

A change is noticeable also in Mr Roosevelt's personal demeanor He no longer pounds his desk shooting darted words at compromise suggestions but appears satisfied and pleased with the world His wages and hours message was worded as mildly as any message he ever sent to congress

Disturbance

Eminent officials have their fingers in their ears awaiting an explosion within the radio commission Charges and counter charges involving personalities mostly are going the round of the inner circle A determination cannot be long delayed although some expert efforts now are being made to avoid it

Acting Vice-Chairman Stewart resigned the other day for the announced purpose of taking a better outside job but a contributing factor was that the rooms of the commissioners are too small to hold some of the conflicting elements Possible successor Ex-Congressman Driscoll of Pennsylvania

Cooperation

Further recent British steps to ease the flowing of gold toward the United States are evident They are the result of broad official hints from Washington which managed to reach the right parties in London

Concern over gold has thus continued to wane in official quarters In the minds of officials here the problem is definitely tied to financial speculation in this country That is they now agree excess imports of gold primarily reflected foreign buying in the American high grade bond markets (No armament buying etc) Since speculative activity has been moderate lately gold imports have fallen off

This is only a hiatus

Taxes

No one seems to know anything about a new tax bill this session Congressional fiscal leaders say they will not stand for one At the same time responsible treasury authorities are noticeably itching to revise administrative features of the present law They will certainly seize any opportunity to submit a bill making important administrative changes toward the close of the session if they have reason to believe there is half a chance of getting it through

While waiting Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is personally comforting himself by conducting a drive on income taxpayers checking and double checking the returns particularly of New Yorkers This seems to be the main subject of private discussion in the financial district

Notes

There is talk in Texas quarters (but unconfirmable here) that Sen Elliott might be persuaded to run for governor of the largest state.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is understood to be looking for that Chesapeake & Ohio railroad bookkeeper who made a $60 000 000 mistake and did not discover it for five years Men like that are hard to find

Individual economists differ as widely as lawyers but even some in the new order are expressing some doubt as to whether Mr Roosevelt is getting the right economic advice For instance his wages and hours message expressed the desire of putting a floor underneath the existing living standard by federal decree of a minimum wage level and maximum hours There is another school of thought which holds he might let floor repairs go and turn his attention to the ceiling with a view to adding another story to the house

Worrying About Too Much Gold

No One Seems To Know What To Do

By PRESTON GROVER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON May 28 (AP) It seems not to be a soul in Washington who positively what can be done about the gold situation

I was gone past the point All the jokes that can be told about burying gold and digging up have been told Now the lads who ultimately will have a hand in solving the problem are passing around a cartoon showing a number clambering out of a hole in the ground with a lump of gold in each hand Eagle by the numbers Uncle Sam grabs a handful of gold in each hand heads again for the hole Sam runs in the opposite direction with the lump and puts the awe inspiring pile of gold in a pit at Camp Knox

Outcry

It is just as well as a matter of actual fact Uncle Sam now has to bury the gold he has bought to pay interest on the bonds issued to pay the money going more gold which he really doesn't want

Talk of scaling down the value of gold so less will be bought and less will be bought by the United States simply sends a shudder through foreign and local financial circles

Even now some European countries are getting rid of American securities and buying gold instead The reason is that the value of gold in the form of twenty dollar gold pieces will be much more and it will take less of them to buy an ounce of gold than of securities

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau let it be known he was not hunting for world conference to settle the problem of the value of gold should such a conference would have to include both Japan and France Both wants to continue to sell gold at a high price It made the administration chuckle to find out a ill be heavy sellers

Likely also England would object to fixing a currency permanently in relation to the dollar since South Africa would be a heavy loser

At $35 an ounce it costs to operate low grade mines but one does not pay much for gold at $20 an ounce

Trade

With Russia's gold production increasing and being sold in the United States for new gold at the rate of 200 million dollars a year

To scale off the value of the dollar would increase the value of each dollar and so make it hard on the American agricultural products So the farm bloc would step up in arms if the scheme or its intricacies could be explained to them Moreover such a step might bring on a new buying prosperity wave

Present talk is about the possibility that Morgenthau has been dickering with individual nations to get them to scale down their production Just what they have to trade for such a reduction is problematical

Although long a believer in state minimum wage laws, this correspondent has come to feel a federal law is imperative as a supplement to state laws, but only to prevent competition between the states. Minimum wage legislation is such a vital force in economic trends that to get workable laws requires more study and more information than has been hitherto available. It used to be that, before a surgical operation on the national economic system was performed, as, for instance, in banking legislation, an exploratory period of study would be utilized so that the legislation might be intelligently written. It used to be also that members of congress made these investigations and studies and wrote their own laws. The American economic system is having a hard time today digesting the Wagner labor law and high taxes due to heavy relief costs and it might possibly be a good idea to take more time to study the whole minimum wage and maximum hour question perhaps another year before forcing congress to pass a vaguely written statute such as the Corcoran bill really is.

The trend here, however, is gradually toward a fascist state. Executive power over wages and hours has been found essential in Italy and Germany to the operations of the Fascist theory. With a national wage and hour board chosen by and controlled by the President of the United States, a political and economic power of the Fascist pattern and of unprecedented proportions will have been delegated by congress to Mr. Roosevelt.

Letters from Our Readers

MARION DECORATION DAY PROGRAM IN THE '90S

Editor of The Star: Along about 1892 or 1893 at the Greenwood school, then called the East building under the leadership of the janitor, Joseph Schneider, a Civil war veteran, there was a drum corps with the following members: Ollie Schneider and Harry Scherff, fifers, Holmes Byers, Harvey Romoser, Marshall DeWolfe Frank Schneider and Andy Sauter, since a mayor of Marion. The organization lasted several years.

Succeeding them in about 1894 another drum corps sprung up there, with Charles Fairbanks drum major, Earl Blocksom, Earl Finch, Tommie Huffman, Ed Ammon and Harry Mason, later a county auditor, as snare drummers Sam Blockrom, bass drummer and Dennis Gompf fifer.

Besides the music furnished for the marches into and out of the school, and the fire drill, they often serenaded on the streets evenings and Saturday afternoons, also playing for special occasions as in the McKinley-Bryan campaign of 1896, some times going to Caledonia and other surrounding towns.

The selections, as I remember, were on the order of "Yankee Doodle", "Girl I Left Behind Me", "Dixie" and "Old Irish Washwoman," etc.

Their uniform were of army blue woolen goods, and white leggings adorned with G. A. R. brass buttons, and a little blue turban with a gold tassel hanging down the left side.

The big day, however, was the annual Decoration day celebration. Then there were quite a number of Civil war vets still marching in line, having a drum corps of their own at their head. Various clubs and lodges turned out by the scores with fluttering banners while the old People's band thrilled the onlooking multitudes. Ascending the South State street hill with Charles Irvin in tall white hat whirling his baton out in front—what an inspiration came to the spectators on that great day!

Now, poor Charley is dead, the People's band is a thing of the past, only a very few Civil war veterans are left, and the task of reading Lincoln's address at Gettysburg and Gen. Logan's proclamation, formerly done by Col. George B. Christian and Major S. N. Titus, is left to other hands.

COOPER AND MANERO STAGE GOLF DUEL

Hard Luck Guy Still Hopes To Win Against Last Years Foe

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH Pa May 28—The professionals championship today provided the match golf fan wanted for a long time Harry Cooper against Tony Manero.

The bad luck guy of the links faced the fellow who came out of nowhere to race him out of the National Open championship last autumn.

Cooper had fired pars and birdies over Baltusrol's rugged course for a 284 lowest total in his only performance that bettered the long standing Chick Evans-Bob Jones 286 record.

But with dusk came Manero riding a flock of birdies and shepherded by the veteran Gene Sarazen. He banged putts in with a magic wand and Harry's hopes collapsed under Tony's marvelous 70.

If Harry wasn't a golf fatalist before he became one then.

Day after day golf knows no player in his class but he's never been able to win a major title.

Some folks just aren't lucky. Harry lost a playoff for the open crown 10 years ago. Two years back he rode a rainstorm in with a spectacular score in the important Augusta masters tournament only to have Horton Smith come in later with a fur coat and a lower total. And he can't play on Uncle Sam's Ryder cup team because although he's a product of American golf the birth certificate shows he was born in England.

He probably wondered when he started out this morning whether it would be Manero again or another fellow this time who'd beat his hope. This is the first time he's ever gone as far as the fourth round in the PGA duels.

The other 36 hole fourth round contests today all naturals: Ned Champion Denny Shute of Boston against Jimmy Hines of Garden City N Y medalist Byron Nelson of Reading Pa against Ky Laffoon of Chicago and Henry Picard of Hershey Pa against Harold McSpaden of Winchester Mass.

WALLY'S TITLE FIGHT LOST, DUKE REPORTS

King Expected To Make Decisive Announcement Regarding Ranks Shortly

By The Associated Press

LONDON May 28—Friends of the Duke of Windsor said today they had received a telephone message direct from Edward which informed them that he had lost his fight to obtain for Wallis Warfield the title Her royal highness.

An important announcement affecting the whole issue of the future which the Duke and his future wife will bear was expected shortly.

It was understood the announcement would take the form of letters patent. These are letters sent by the king to all to whom these presents shall come recording the grant of some dignity appointment monopoly or other privilege to the grantee.

These letters patent usually are left unsealed and recorded in the patents rolls of the official record office so the king's subjects may read them and be bound by their contents.

An authority explained the letters may embody the monarch's own private decision to confer a distinction or they may be in effect a rubber stamp for a governmental decision.

RAIN AGAIN HALTS MARBLE TOURNEY

Finals Set For This Afternoon If Weather Permits

Rain rain go away

Little Johnny wants to play

And that's just what didn't happen yesterday afternoon when school marble champions met at Central Junior High school to decide the 1937 city championship. For the second time in as many days the championship matches have been abruptly cancelled by a downpour of rain. At the first attempt in completing the ninth tournament the circles of marbles were played and the third inning when the downpour came.

Yesterday the players were just ready to knuckle down when the rain came in large quantities causing postponement of activity until this afternoon. This morning's dull gray sky gave little cheer to the marble finalists but their tournament activity would see a champion selected today.

Robert Cassaday representing North Main school and Harry Manley of Pearl Street school were fortunate in winning opening rounds before other contests were cancelled when the finals began Wednesday afternoon. Like other school champs Harold Dean of Creenwood James Midkiff of Olney Dean Wesley of Oakland Robert Ford of George Washington and Duane Carter of Glendale who were unable to get started because of the rain are still in the running.

MORE PICKETS MAN STEEL STRIKE LINES

ally employed there still were at work—eating and sleeping inside the plant—but it announced no estimate today.

The SWOC committee said it had a list of names of workers who had gone to the plant seeking their menfolk.

Tickets mobilized for a fresh drive to close Republic's main Chicago area plant after police broke up two attempts to mass around company gates. Strike leaders expected reinforcements from other plants.

John Mayo sub-regional director for the SWOC in Youngstown Mahoning valley area told a group of strikers near Republic's mills:

"Ninety-per cent of the battle is over and your work will serve the working man in the generations to come. If you all get out on the picket lines there will not be a drop of blood shed."

Smoke that normally clung black and heavy dwindled to thin scattered wisps in northeastern Ohio steel centers as Republic claimed it also had units operating at Warren and Canton.

Previous to the strike Republic had been operating 60 of its open hearth furnaces in plants where strikes were called" the concern said in a statement issued from its general offices at Cleveland where its four plants employ 8000 were closed.

With the steel plants at Warren Canton Chicago and Buffalo working there are a total of 23 open hearths in production. It stated SWOC sources asserted the number operating was less than one third of Republic's claim.

Government May Intervene

The scene was comparatively peaceful as federal intervention from Washington was envisioned by an authoritative source as the only chance for a quick break in the five-state strike deadlock.

Declining to be quoted by name the source in contact with both sides pointed out that the youthful SWOC and its independent producers were locked in a conflict over how to proceed to negotiation of a strike settlement.

As the biggest steel strike since 1919 moved into its second day there was no immediate indication from the official that Washington would seek a quick settlement.

For the heat bronzed idle workers there was some hope that Gov Martin Davey of Ohio might set the stage for peace negotiations in the SWOC's demands for signed contracts.

The governor revealed at Columbus that he had contacted SWOC leaders in Ohio and executives of Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube in an effort to end the John L Lewis unit's strike called in plants in Ohio Illinois New York Indiana and Pennsylvania.

There is good reason to believe Davey said that mass [illegible] will be held by the middle of next week.

SWOC Demands Contract

The John L Lewis union demanded a contract to represent its members employed in the three concerns' plants. The SWOC aims eventual: Republic and Sheet & Tube said in recent statements that a closed shop and the check-off system of dues collection under which companies deduct the dues from paychecks and turn it over to the union.

All three have firmly opposed signing of any contract although holding conferences with SWOC chieftains which they contend is all the Wagner act requires.

Steel strikers in Ohio's long Mahoning valley where blazing red lights flamed proclaimed the strike clouded toward Canton where the SWOC planned a show of strength tonight in calling a huge outdoor mass meeting.

Philip Murray's light gray chairman of the SWOC, operating from his Pittsburgh headquarters failed to get a response to an overture to Republic to resume negotiations on a collective bargaining contract. He had sent a telegram to Tom Girdler Republic board chairman in New York.

Outlining his stand against SWOC demands Frank Purnell president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co said in a statement to Sheet & Tube employes that a written agreement would be followed by a closed shop and the check-off dues collection system. Purnell described these as unfair to that great number of employes who desire to conduct their own collective bargaining.

The union at Pittsburgh settled Wagner labor disputes act machinery in its battle with the producers. Clinton S Golden SWOC regional director there said a complaint had been filed with the national labor relations board against Republic charging that the company closed a plant at Massillon May 21 "for the purpose of discouraging organization."

Golden asserted that the complaint accused the superintendent of the plant of shutting down operations for the purpose of getting the employes to leave the union. Republic workers went on strike at Canton Massillon plants a full day before they were joined by other thousands after a council of war here.

The clash of police and pickets at the Republic South Chicago mill followed an announcement by Van A Bittner SWOC region al director there that he had asked the federal government to investigate collusion between Chicago police officials and Republic executives.

Bittner said he telegraphed President Roosevelt asking that the justice department conduct the inquiry and charging Republic Steel with conspiracy to render ineffective the national labor relations act."

Mayors of Canton and Massillon both put forward plans to hold elections to determine whether employes wanted to work or strike. The elections however were called off after union leaders warned of the danger of precipitating violence between clashing elements.

RELIEF BILL BACKERS ASK FOR COMPROMISE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 28—House leaders tried to reverse a defeat on seller provisions of the $1500000000 relief bill and appealed today to President Roosevelt to help bring about a compromise.

Rep Rayburn Democrat of Texas majority floor leader indicated he would canvass the entire subject with the President during the week-end.

Rayburn waved off a final vote on the bill in a turbulent session yesterday asking members to cool off until next Tuesday.

In the meantime he said he and others would try to work out a compromise fair to every section and every project.

Rayburn who spoke after his fellow Texan Rep Maverick had accused the members of acting like a mob disclosed he had just come from a White House conference.

The cause of the controversy was tentative earmarking of one-third of the proposed relief fund for roads dams and other special projects approved Tuesday during a revolt by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans.

WPA WORKER SHOT IN STRIKE FLAREUP

Enraged Negro Fires Into Group of Pickets at Warren Steel Plant

By The Associated Press

WARREN O May 28—Jack Baugh a WPA worker police reported was shot and wounded by an enraged Negro today who fired into a group of pickets seeking to close the Warren plant of the Republic Steel Corp.

The shooting followed a attack on the Negro earlier in the morning as he sought to pass the picket line to go fishing.

The shooting was the first incident indirectly growing out of attempts by Steel Workers Organizing Committee to close the Warren Republic plant one of the few mills still operating as a skirmish workers pressed their drive for recognition of the SWOC as the sole bargaining agency.

The Negro who gave his name as Alvan Norton told police he was beaten and cut by the pickets as he attempted to pass their lines to go fishing in the Mahoning river. He said 20 men participated in the assault.

His right ear was cut off and bruised about the face shoulder and legs. The Negro told police he went home to get his pistol and returned to fire one shot into the crowd of pickets.

Police said he shot missed the pickets but struck the WPA worker who was standing in a nearby doorway waiting to go to work in the night shift.

Quins Avoid Fuss and Fine Food on Third Birthday

By The Associated Press

CALLANDER Ont May 28—Mr and Mrs Oliva Dionne's five famous daughters were three years old today but—save for a half hour deviation in their upper limit—it was mostly another day of oatmeal and spinach, baking and play.

The saucer-eyed little girls did not have cake ice cream or candy they had to suck to their tonsils out of body building foods.

To make way for a public ceremony and a late afternoon radio broadcast in which Marie Emilie Cecile Yvonne and Annette were importuned to sing and talk the quints suppertime was moved back until after 6 o'clock instead of between 5:30 and 6.

The master of ceremonies was Dr Allan Roy Dafoe who three years ago lifted the blanket from the infants in a laundry basket near the Dionne kitchen stove and grimly set about the task of saving at least one tiny life.

The country physician had concentrated on saving their mother Elzire Dionne because he thought he had no chance with the premature babies. It was hours after their birth that he turned to them.

Today the nurse and the little brothers and sisters had to feed themselves and brush their own teeth. Their weights are now 50 pounds five ounces.

ROOSEVELT WANTS TAX LEAKS PLUGGED

Seeks Law To Block Evasion and Avoidance of Income Levies

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 28—President Roosevelt said today he would ask for legislation this session to check what he termed both evasion and avoidance of income taxes running into millions of dollars by a small group of wealthy persons.

He told a press conference he had received reports from the treasury of glaring evasions and avoidances which had raised an important moral issue and that there was no question there would have to be additional legislation to plug loopholes.

Earlier today treasury officials disclosed they were mapping legal action against scores of large tax payers. In some cases they said civil proceedings will be undertaken.

Other fraud prosecutions will be recommended to the justice department.

Every day the President said new types of cases are being revealed.

He emphasized that a great majority of taxpayers were making ethical returns and that the evasion by the small group was not only hurting themselves but hitting other taxpayers.

A long list of unfinished still faced the federation executive council after yesterday's action.

Heading the list was a dispute between the organization and the Boilermakers union which refused support to the drive.

The Boy Scout movement Brooks said teaches boys example of the leaders is won by instructions in the field and requirements for advancement from one rank to another. He said seeks to train boys in connection with the boys' their community—boys learn the example set by the leaders beyond question scout leaders have a very definite impression of the lives of the boys with whom they are associated. These leaders remain with them throughout their lives. The thought of the boys benefiting from the experiments in an inspirational Scout leadership—most of the scout volunteers—to carry on the work.

When Mr Brooks came to the United States in 1911 to continue the study of his vocation he was a landscape architect he became interested in the movement which was then in its infancy and continued his efforts to promote its growth.

The story of how a group of Scouts in Ohio turned out an unknown Boy Scout was largely responsible for the launching of the Boy Scout movement in this country which in most circles is an example of the far reaching benefits that can be accomplished by making it a habit to do a good turn to someone every day.

The unknown English boy whose memory a memorial in England wrote a new chapter in scouting history when he volunteered to help William D Boyce of Chicago find an address in London. After the boy had taken Mr Boyce to the address Boyce offered him a tip but was politely refused. And when Boyce made inquiry he found that the inspiration for the boy's turn came from the boy's relation with the Boy Scouts. Interested he later accompanied the boy to scout headquarters where he returned to the United States he brought with him a treasure of literature and a desire to make scouting available to boys of this country. As a result of his efforts the Boy Scouts of America was incorporated in Washington D C and a charter issued to reach 7000000 boys in this country by 1937 was its aim. There are now 1040000 Scouts registered in all the thousands who have become scouts.

Mr Brooks after becoming a member of one of the early boy scout organizations in England became a patrol leader later served in various capacities as troop leader. When he came to this country in 1911 he took up his activities in scouting and from 1911 to 1930 served as scout master. From 1923 to 1930 he was the scout executive for the national council. From 1923 to 1930 he was a landscape architect for the Boy Scout foundation school to develop camps for children at Jan Wert. In 1931 he accepted the invitation of the national council to make scouting his vocation instead of his avocation and became scout executive for the Harding area.

Mr Brooks is a graduate of the Royal Horticultural college England and continued studies in this country at Cornell and Columbia universities. He is a member of the Ohio Academy of Science. He and Mrs Brooks whose home was at Van Wert Ohio is the parents of two children Joan and George 4.

NEW HYGIENE COURSE OPENS

Home Health and Care of the Sick Taught by Emergency School.

Registration opens today for enrollment in new classes in home hygiene and care of the sick to be conducted by the Marion county emergency school administration, Clyde E. Lister, supervisor of the project, announced today. "The course will be almost identical with those in operation at the present time. "Because of the success of the summer programs, we feel that it is desirable to again offer the courses to Marion city and county residents," Mr. Lister said.

Registration for participation in the course may be made at Mr. Lister's office on the second floor of the relief headquarters building, 128 South Prospect street. The enrollment will continue through Wednesday of next week and class meetings for the enrollees will be held Thursday evening and Friday afternoon in the relief building.

Convenient class schedules will be arranged when the enrollees meet with the instructor, Mrs. Ruth Johnston of 626 Uneapher street. Mrs. Johnston is at present in charge of the emergency home hygiene classes and holds the endorsement of the American Red Cross. She is a graduate of Protestant hospital in Cincinnati.

Any girl or woman in Marion county or city, 16 years of age or more, who is not enrolled in a public or parochial school, is eligible to take part in the emergency school program. Those interested are requested to immediately get in touch with Mr. Lister's office and file their entry blank. Full details of the course may be learned by calling the office at telephone 2128.

A large room at the rear of the relief headquarters is used for the classes, being equipped with furniture for both theory and lecture work. The course being offered intends to provide the adult groups with the simple, safe and effective means of meeting the many special problems in sickness and emergencies which may arise in the home.

It also gives an understanding and appreciation of the need to guard and maintain health, creates an interest in working for betterment in civic conditions, offers a means of becoming acquainted with future responsibilities as home makers and provides an opportunity for vocational guidance in choosing the profession of nursing or allied subjects, Mr. Lister pointed out.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Diphtheria.

Not so long ago I told you how the danger of diphtheria has been greatly reduced by the early vaccination or immunization of children. Commissioners of health in widely separated cities agree that there has been a definite decrease in the number of deaths due to this disease. For example, in New York City there were only 37 deaths of diphtheria in 1936. In 1935, with only 55 deaths, there was a marked decrease from former years.

These results mark an amazing achievement. But we must not assume that all danger is passed and that diphtheria has definitely been conquered. The effort of public health authorities to give the protective "toxoid" or "toxin-anti-toxin" to the youngsters before they enter school is the immediate problem. But it is important after a few years. This is done by means of the "Schick test," which shows whether or not the child is susceptible to diphtheria, or that the protective effect continues.

This is a simple procedure, causing little pain or discomfort. It determines whether the child possesses the necessary protection against the disease. It is usually applied six months after the last of the protective inoculations is given.

If the Schick test is "positive," it means that the child should receive a new series of inoculations. Unfortunately, many parents are neglectful about it. Too often they fail to have these tests made six months after the last inoculation and in many instances never have them. This is a pity, because if every child who has had the preventive treatment were checked by the Schick test, and, if necessary, given another chance, it would not be long before diphtheria would disappear as a cause of death. Communities in which this method of control is not enforced live in great danger.

Please bear in mind that, in a certain proportion of treated children, protection does not last for life; for this reason there should be a checkup at intervals. Consult with your doctor about the importance of testing the children as to their susceptibility to this disease.

At his side, the woman whose love had led him to forsake his throne remained silent.

Terse words in the official announcement of the wedding, told the story:

"There will be no members of the royal family present."

Another Baldwin Victory

It was still another victory for the bulldog-jowled "squire of Bewdley," Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who, admittedly alone, had forced Edward VIII to abdicate after a reign of just 324 days.

And it was a crushing blow to Edward.

For the modern man without a country had hoped desperately, friends said, to gain such recognition of his marriage.

He had counted deeply on the attendance of his favorite youngest brother, the Duke of Kent.

Yet even with the storm of emotional stress over his abdication fast dwindling, Edward found that constitutional "forces" back home still shadowed his happiness.

Baldwin's cabinet refused recognition.

So Can't Wear Decorations

Even Edward's personal friends, with official positions, were barred from wearing decorations at the wedding, or appearing in other than a strictly "private" capacity.

Nor would official sources in London clarify Wallis Warfield's status after she become the Duchess of Windsor, at high noon on June 3—whether she will become "her royal highness" and the eighth-ranking lady in the British realm, or merely "her grace, the duchess."

A bitter controversy raged over the point.

The newly-crowned King George VI and Queen Mother Mary repeatedly clashed with Baldwin to gain Edward's wishes.

Baldwin remained silent.

The last word came from Edward himself.

Through his spokesman, Herman L. Rogers, the duke pointed a sharp reminder to the people over whom he once ruled that he would expect them to address his bride as "her royal highness," as befitted the wife of a member of the royal family—abdicated or not.

Duke Appears Happy

Otherwise, as the wedding day approached, the "retired king" appeared blissfully happy.

Seemingly, he had "found" himself again after the spell of dark moods that engulfed him immediately after his abdication on last Dec. 11.

Whether the suffered remorse and bitter regret at laying down his sceptre for love, or whether it was merely the natural reaction of terrific emotional strain, the ex-monarch's first few days in "exile"—at the estate of Baron Eugene de Rothschild at Enzesfeld, Austria—were marked by intense suffering.

A member of Baron de Rothschild's entourage described Edward, at that time, as utterly disheartened and ageing.

Abusive crank notes flooded on Mrs. Simpson, at her retreat on the French riviera, blaming the dark-eyed Wallis for Edward's abdication—even though she had offered, at the height of the crisis, to give him up.

In London, as the populace settled back to post-abdication normalcy, the Archbishop of Canterbury delivered a stinging rebuke to the self-exiled monarch and his friends as "a circle whose standards and ways of life are alien to all the best instincts and traditions of his people."

Laumaker Objects

The onslaught drew immediate fire from Jock McGovern, M. P., who accused the archbishop of "kicking a man when he's down."

Leaders also vigorously debated, behind the scenes, the question of granting the former monarch a pension of $125,000 annually—a Scrooge-like sum compared to the $2,050,000 salary he drew as king.

It was finally decided to grant him that amount, out of his king-brother's royal purse.

On March 5, Mrs. Simpson moved from the Cote D'Azur villa of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, and took up residence in the beautiful old chateau de Cande, at Monts, France.

There, on May 4—after her divorce had been pronounced final in a 25-second hearing, and after five months' separation, Edward and Wallis were reunited.

Spurred by her telephonic exhortation to "hurry up!" Edward, radiating happiness, dashed across France to write the climatic chapter in the world-glittering drama.

Engagement Announced

Their formal engagement was announced May 11, on the eve of the coronation of Edward's sober-faced younger brother, George VI, in far-off London.

Mrs. Warfield—no longer, by legal process, the namesake of "l'Affaire Simpson"—for the first time wore her engagement ring, a platinum band with a square-cut emerald.

The next morning, Edward and his bride-to-be listened like millions of others to the broadcast describing the London pageant that might have been their own crowning hour of glory—as Edward VIII and Queen Wallis—had the twin ships of romantic destiny and royal dynasty not crashed on the rocks of constitutional government.

If Edward had regrets, he gave no sign.

Wedding Plans Made

Instead, he turned happily to discussing plans for their wedding trip.

Appropriately, the lovers chose romantic Austria for their honeymoon.

A fortnight before the wedding, news evidence arose that the Church of England, at least, had not forgiven Edward his choice.

The duke found that Anglican clergymen would not perform the marriage—a blunt reminder from the nation's church, which fought the romance from the beginning, that the union would not have its blessing.

Edward had to resign himself to a civil ceremony, to be performed by Dr. Charles Mercier, the mayor of Monts, without benefit of clergy.

Looking back on the whole momentous drama, Edward may have moments of "regret."

But he has never shown it—not once since the first storme of emotional anti-climax.

"Always he has been steadfast, almost boyishly eager, in his devotion to the woman I love."

In his own words:

"We are very happy. We are very happy—always."

Don't Worry if Boys 'Play Soldier,' Parents Are Told

"WILD WESTERNER"

"DEAD-EYE DICK"

They say it's natural for youngsters to emulate their "heroes."

This is one of a series of Associated Press articles on child guidance and development.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—When Billy plays soldier and tears around the block aiming his toy gun at passersby, should mother worry lest he become a militarist?

Not at all, says Dr. Prescott Lecky of Columbia university. Like all normal boys, the lad is just passing through a natural phase of development.

It really would be a matter of concern, the psychologist believes, if Billy shied away from guns and didn't want to be a general in the army. For all normal boys after they reach their sixth birthday begin to think of themselves in a "he-man" role.

Says Viewpoint Changes

"Pacifists do not need to wage a campaign against stores which sell tin soldiers," says Dr. Lecky. "When your six-year-old fighter grows up and is confronted with the possibility of going to war, he will not see the matter in the light of his childhood games.

"Enlisting will be a fresh situation to which he will apply his thinking powers. Playing with guns in childhood does not mean that he will want to play with them all his life. And the idea that he would want to kill people when he grows up because he had owned a cap pistol as a child is simply ridiculous."

Scoffs At Habit Theory

When Dr. Lecky's own small boy, playing soldier, was asked if he might want to go to war when he grew up, he answered:

"Of course not. Do you think I want to get killed?"

Scoffing at alarmed pacifists who believe literally in the old psychological theory of habit formation, Dr. Lecky says:

"There are no habits. If we mean that a habit is the mechanical repetition of the same act. We never do the same thing twice in exactly the same way. We cannot even predict what an individual will do tomorrow.

"Then why get excited about wild speculations as to what he will do 20 years from now?"

Modern educators are not alarmed when sonny takes to a toy gun.

Thus the small boy's longing to be a cowboy or a policeman. Both are heroic figures to him.

TRAINED ELEPHANTS COMING WITH WALLACE BROTHERS CIRCUS

Capt. Thomas Burns, pictured above beside the "Mighty Agnes" is advertised as one of the world's foremost elephant trainers. His performing dancing pachyderms will be one of the outstanding features on the program of the Wallace Brothers Circus which plays in Marion Monday, May 31, on the Aronhalt show grounds.

Coming from the silver screen of Hollywood to the hippodrome track of the circus big top, Hoot Gibson with his congress of Westerners recruited from the film colony will demonstrate his skill as marksman, roper and superb rider which won him distinction as a cowboy.

Gibson and his riders head the list of attractions which Wallace Brothers will bring to Marion Monday. Nine foreign nations have contributed to the program, Wallace Brothers report, declaring their show to be America's foremost independent circus not connected with any combine.

Herds of trained wild animals, famous arenic stars, gymnasts and acrobats, and scores of clowns all go to make the Wallace program.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: The mysterious coming to death of Jude Billinghurst, old Harry's open-hearted brother, at Farrington Bluff, over-run at Michael's aunts' A.S.P. house of strange attacks, is apparent of explained when we find proof of Michael's mad father behind the bluff. Then Aunt Marian is shot in the shoulder by an unknown hand, and the skipper, with tall, rowdy, younger aunt, Annie, sleeping in pyjamas, promptly finds that Miss Annie is "dared to the gills." Cook gets dared, too. Palmer, with his clever searching the bedrooms for a clue to the killer or somebody's whereabouts.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

William's Secret

At least only one thing remained to be investigated—the bed and its silent occupant. Great beads of perspiration stood out on Michael's face. But we had to look at that bed once before our failure had been discovered.

I took a deep breath and stepped forward. Moving so lightly in my excitement as almost to throw me off my balance, the sheet came off the face Bishop lay where I had placed her. I replaced the sheet gently.

The silence of that room seemed to follow me down the hall to my bedroom. No one spoke during the entire performance of dumping all the things on the floor. I couldn't see Cook's disfigured, staring face without seeing me for something. I'm afraid I wasn't of much help at the finish of the game. Michael's face was flushed as he asked me if I was all right.

I told him I was. I stumbled over them into his room and began to paw through his belongings. There was a devil of a mess there, but nothing more. And that brought us back. Aside from the servants' quarters, there remained only the rooms of the two aunts. Annie and Miss Farrington were in one of them and the bathroom door in the other probably still stood open. Cook and Higgins were in their rooms—or should have been. That left William's room and 'Annie.' Annie, it seemed to me, would be more apt to remain where she was than William. We decided on his room first.

Breathlessly we tiptoed across the main hall to the servants' quarters. Not a sound. One dim light was burning just above the stairs in the narrow hallway. We listened at Higgins' door. A light was burning inside but there was not a sound. We crept down the corridor to Cook's door, where the sound of heavy breathing was clearly audible. Pushing open William's door, I groped for a light.

Two Letters Fall Out

The tumbled bed still bore testimony of my struggles there. The trunk straps that had held me lay on the floor as Michael had flung them. Inch by inch we went over that room—through the dresser, the wardrobe, his uniform pockets, under the rug, all over the bed and its mattress.

I finally shrugged helplessly and turned to the door.

"Wait a minute." It was Michael at the window against which reposed a small leather cushion of the sort used in the driver's seat of a car. Mike picked it up. We all crowded around him and as we did so a section of the cushion unsnapped. Two letters fell to the floor. I stooped and picked them up.

They were both in plain white envelopes, one typed and one addressed in a vertical, firm, hand-writing. In the corner of the typewritten one, I read: Office of the Warden, Wethersfield Prison, Wethersfield, Connecticut. It was addressed to Mr. William Miller, 137 Nassau St., New York City. My hand shook so that I could hardly get the letter out of the envelope. The date was in July of the previous year. I read:

"I am sorry to learn from our mutual friend that you have encountered difficulty in securing employment. It is my suggestion that you get in touch with Mr. Bilnshop who, in spite of the fact that he was obliged to take the stand against you, bears you no malice, and is most eager to help you now.

"He is a generous and sympathetic man. In spite of the trouble you have caused him, you need not hesitate to accept his assistance. I heartily endorse the plan of a fresh name and a fresh start.

"Do not lose your nerve. Please keep in touch with me."

It was signed by the warden of the prison.

"Dear Bill," read the other letter, "I was glad to hear from you. You've been on my mind for a long time. I'd hate you to think that I had any grudge against you because of your tough luck. I felt then and I still feel that you were a good chap in a tight spot.

"Fortunately, I think we can manage to get you a job where you will be just as well off as you were here. Then you can forget the whole business." With your permission, I'll drop in on you Wednesday at 11 a. m. and we can go around and see about it.

"It bucks me up to have you write to me after all. Let me know if Wednesday isn't all right.

Yours sincerely,
John Bilnshop."

So William had known Jude Bilnshop! Worse than that, he had apparently gotten into trouble while working for her father and been prosecuted for it. For the first time, we had discovered a clear and plausible motive.

Breathlessly we tiptoed across the main hall.

Another Scrap Looms

Michael spoke first. "The rat!" he said. "After a guy went to all that trouble to give him a lift!"

There were several things about the situation that puzzled me. Why should William have kept those two letters? He was not a sentimental soul, nor yet an imaginative one. Assuming that he had been responsible for Jude's death, he was a treacherous, cold-blooded devil. I couldn't seem to imagine such a man keeping incriminating evidence to gloat over when the nights were long and lonely.

The evidence was right under my nose, but I wasn't satisfied with it. Could this be what Jude had told Michael? Perhaps she had not been aware that the aunts knew William's identity, and wanted to warn them. Perhaps—

I asked Michael—for the sixth or seventh time—what Jude had told him in the game room.

I don't know what I expected him to do, but he certainly didn't do it. His eyes jerked from the letters in his hand to my face. They held a startled, panicky look that turned rapidly to one of rage.

"I told you that she warned me about the chimneys." His voice was thin and tight. "Perhaps you could understand it better if I repeated that it was none of your business."

Gay's face turned a dull red and her eyes began to glitter.

"You listen to me—" she had Mike by the arm, and another scrap was close enough for me to see the whites of its eyes.

"Cut it, cut!" I snapped. "Gay, shut up. I thought that it might have been about William, Mike. That's all. Was it?"

"No."

I believed him. Well, at least I knew of one thing that Jude had not talked about.

Someone quickly covers our tracks in William's room, tomorrow.

LANES FOR PARKING PAINTED ON STREETS

Service Department Workmen Now Busy on S. Main; Others To Follow.

Painting of the 45-degree parking lanes for the uptown section on Main and Center streets was begun yesterday on South Main street, under the direction of John V. Ruth, safety service director. The lanes, recently changed from 30-degree to 45-degree angle parking, will be painted on Main street from Columbia to George and on Center street from Baker street to the C. A. O. railroad crossing.

The parking lanes are being painted in white, which designates a guide line, while the prohibited parking zones are painted in yellow, Director Ruth explained. The solid yellow line, painted through the center of the street and at crosswalk intersections, point out to the driver the prohibitive zone. Automobiles should not be driven over the solid center line in the middle of the street or past the pedestrian lane when stopping for a red traffic light, Mr. Ruth said.

In painting the angle parking lanes the white lines merely define the proper parking spaces, while at a street intersection or fire hydrant the restricted zone is marked in yellow. It is planned to have from two to four men at work painting the park lanes, which is expected to require several weeks, Ruth said.

The rear bumper, tire cover and trunk of a car driven by George Lockwood of 230 West Columbia street were damaged when his car was struck by an automobile driven by Ray Dickerson of 535 Toledo avenue last night on West Center street. Highly Esteemed Citizen Says "Vendol" is Amazing

Tells how this great remedy relieved his fiery, gassy, acid stomach misery, sluggish bowels and kidneys.

MR. D. S. McHENRY

Mr. D. S. McHenry, residing on Route 1, South Solon, Ohio, says: "For several years I had been suffering from a gassy, acid condition in my stomach which kept me in misery. It finally got to where my stomach was so full of this terrible gas and acid that my food would not digest right. I had pains after eating and a fiery hot feeling all the way from my throat to my stomach. I couldn't sleep because of nervous indigestion and I lost weight and strength. Guess my whole system was poisoned by this condition, and constipation, for I began to have dizzy spells, my kidneys acted too frequently and I had pains in my back and limbs.

"Recently I began reading in the papers what Vendol was doing to help people living right here at home, so I made up my mind to try this medicine. I got some, also a box of Vendol laxative tablets. I tell you I am amazed at what this medicine did for me.

"It relieved my gassy, acid stomach and then I got relief from the gas pains and fiery burning and can now eat my meals and enjoy them without misery afterward for the first time in a long while. If this medicine had done nothing more than that for me, I would have been very Grateful, but it also flushed my sluggish kidneys and relieved my constipation, so I have reason to be thankful for Vendol. I have gained some of my lost weight, I eat, sleep and feel better and can do my work with more ease than in years. I gladly give a public statement and heartily recommend Vendol and Vendol laxative tablets to all who suffer like I did."

All leading druggists sell and recommend Vendol and it is highly recommended here by Heuney & Cooper, Druggists.—Adv.

ALUMNI AT WALDO HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

James McKinsey Elected President of High School Association.

James McKinsey of Waldo was elected president of the Waldo High School Alumni association to succeed Cecil Gabler of Marion at the annual alumni banquet held last night at the school. Other officers elected, all of Waldo, follow: Miss Mildred Hecker, vice president; Miss Dorothy Denman, secretary; Paul Long, treasurer.

Places were laid for approximately 100. H. Alfred Donithen of Marion welcomed the 1937 graduating class into membership. Darrol Denman, president of the senior class, gave the response on behalf of the graduates, who were then introduced by Supt. R. E. Copeland. Wilbert Miley presided as toastmaster, and Oscar Kaelber led group singing. Dancing to Bob Verburg's orchestra from Marion followed the program.

Two committees were elected for the next year. Mr. Kaelber, Owen Strine and Paul Gerfen were elected to arrange a program, and Paul Waddell, Horace Wilson and Leree Demorest were elected a nominating committee. Mr. Gabler appointed a class agent for each class, to contact members next year, and appointed a "Boost Waldo High School" committee composed of Mr. Donithen, chairman, J. B. Corbin, Mr. Miley and Ralph Bender.

Son and Grandsons Carry on for John D.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at 63 is titular head of the empire whose rule he took over years ago. Like his late father, who entrusted him with responsibilities at an early age, John D., Jr., does not rule alone but carries on with the aid of his sons.

Eldest son, 31-year-old John D. III, joined his father in the administration of their business and philanthropic interests after graduation from Princeton. John, who is married and has a daughter, is a trustee of the Rockefeller foundation.

Second son, Nelson A., was graduated from Dartmouth before he moved in to a trusteeship and partial responsibility for running such enterprises as the cluster of skyscrapers known as Rockefeller Center. He has three children.

Third son, Laurance S., is another Princeton man. Like his two elder brothers, he lends a hand to dad from an office in Rockefeller headquarters on the 56th floor of the RCA building in Rockefeller Center. He is married and has a daughter.

Fourth son, Winthrop, who went to Yale, is the only son to choose oil, in which the family fortune was made, for a career. Winthrop and a fifth son, David, at Harvard are unmarried. A daughter, Abby, now Mrs. David Milton, is the eldest child.

HARDIN TO CONTINUE DIRECT RELIEF SETUP

State Funds Found To Continue Projects and Provide Direct Aid.

Special to The Star

KENTON, May 28—The board of Hardin county commissioners today made arrangements to care for direct relief under a county set-up for the next several months and possibly as long as conditions of distress exist.

The board voted to continue the central form of relief administration and reappointed Morton E. Analey as relief director, after Arthur C. Fiericks of Van Wert, relief examiner for the auditor of state, located several thousand dollars in state money that had been applied to the wrong fund.

Fiericks said that the use of state money would entitle Hardin county to continue its present setup, and authorize the county relief director to certify applicants for works progress administration projects, approve civilian conservation camp enrolees and sign for federal commodities to be redistributed to direct relief and WPA work relief clients.

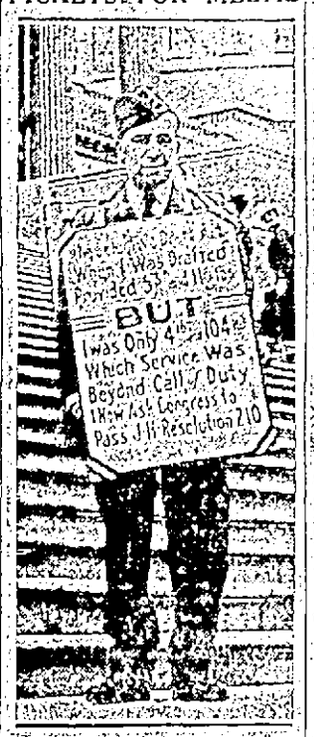
PICKETS FOR MEDAL



Something new in the way of picketing was staged by Nicholas Cassle, of Newark, N. J. (above), when he patroled the front of the capitol, protesting because congress had not granted him a medal he claimed was due him. Cassle maintains that he deserves such recognition because he was drafted into the army and made to serve despite the fact that he is only four feet ten inches tall and weighs but 104 pounds, while military requirements are that draft eligibles should be at least five feet three inches tall and weigh at least 116 pounds.

American Legion To Organize Junior Baseball Team

POST TO REVIVE ATHLETIC PROGRAM AFTER SEVEN YEARS

Dr. F. L. Thomas and Walter E. Hane To Direct Squad of Marion Youths.

Marion this summer will have an American Legion junior baseball program for the first time in seven years, according to preliminary announcements made by Bird-McGlanis Post No. 162. The program, open to all youths of 16 years of age or younger, will be managed by Dr. F. L. Thomas, who will be assisted by Walter E. Hane.

With the organization of a team here, Marion becomes the only city in the central Ohio district outside of Columbus to announce definite plans for a junior legion diamond team. Although plans are still in the tentative stage, it is hoped that members of the Marion High school team, who can qualify under the age requirements, will form the nucleus of the team.

Competition for the Marion club will be sought throughout a wide area, with games to be played on home and foreign fields. Because at the present time there is only one definite junior legion team in the county, the club would automatically become eligible to enter the district tournament. In seeking opposition it will likely be necessary to go far outside the district to schedule teams, officials in charge said.

Had Five Teams Here.

The junior legion program, after rising to a point where an organized league of seven teams, five from Marion and two from Morrow county, played on a regular schedule, dropped out of the sports picture for several years before the present attempt to revive it. In recalling the previous programs sponsored here in 1927-28-29, officials who were in charge then, pointed out that not only Marion was represented by a host of teams but also surrounding counties.

At its inception here in 1927 the Marion junior diamond set-up was a part of the northwestern Ohio district. Carl F. Ebert of Marion was chairman in charge of this section with Walter E. Hane, chairman of the Bird-McGinnis post program. A six-team league was organized and operated in the city with the teams finishing the season in this order: Dodgers, Elks, Wild Cats, Kiwanis, K. of C. and Scnfield Heights.

With no other county entrant, the Dodgers represented the county in the sub-district tournament, finishing second to Galion. The following year, 1928, the district tournament was held here, although no Marion team survived the sub-district competition. Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Union and Morrow counties were all represented by clubs and in Marion city, a four-team league was in operation.

The Eagles' nine, composed of the eligible players from the 1927 Dodgers and Wildcats, won the city title, with the Kiwanis, Elks and St. Mary clubs finishing in that order. As in the previous year, Marion's entry finished second to Galion in the sub-district tournament. With the district finals held here, Toledo took the top spot, with Galion second and Kenton third.

Won District Tourney

A Marion's team beat showing in tournament play came in 1929 when the program reached its height here and, throughout the state. With the state divided into 11 districts, each county champion became eligible for the district tournaments. Marion and Morrow counties had pooled their resources by throwing together their representatives into a seven-team league, five of which were from Marion city and two from the neighboring county.

The Marion Nationals and Mt. Gilead's team finished in a tie during the league season and both became eligible for the district tourney at Columbus. The Marion Nationals drew a bye in district tourney at Columbus. The Marion Nationals drew a bye in the opening round and clashed with and defeated their old rivals, Mt. Gilead, in the semi-finals. Continuing their winning ways the Nationals bowled over Newark in the final game to grab the coveted district title.

The Nationals, managed and coached by Walter E. Hane, suffered their first tournament defeat in the initial round of the state event, losing to Canton.

Because of the growing expense in conducting the junior baseball program and the inability to obtain sponsors for the clubs, the Bird-McGinnis post did not organize the junior setup in the city the following year.

Paper towels have been invented that can be laundered and used several times.

TOLEDO MUD HENS DEFEAT BREWERS 3-1; COLUMBUS IS IDLE

Red Birds Bat Ace Seeking To Boost Game Hitting Mark Tonight.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 28 — It may be an "ill wind" for the champion Milwaukee Brewers, but its blowing up a red hot American Association pennant race.

The Brewers, who took a big lead from the start of the current campaign, dropped their sixth straight game last night, bowing to Toledo's Mud Hens 3 to 1. With Toledo, Minneapolis, Louisville and Columbus all in positions to challenge, the pennant battle is warmer than at any time since the season opened.

Joe Sullivan held the Brewers to five hits, but the Hens could get only four off Al Milner and Ralph Winegarner. Sullivan, however, fanned 13 for a season mark, and ragged fielding and walks aided the brood to victory.

St. Paul routed Louisville 14 to 3, the Saints collecting 21 hits to six for the Colonels.

Minneapolis downed Indianapolis 6 to 5 in another night tilt.

Rain saved Johnny Rizzo's consecutive game hitting mark for at least until tonight. The Kansas City-Columbus game was postponed and will be played tonight, when the young Columbus outfielder will try to make it 38 straight games in which he has hit safely. The association mark is 43—made in 1935 by Eddie Marshall, then of Milwaukee and now of the Kansas City club.

COCHRANE STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

"Unchanged," Physician Reports; News of Tiger Victory Brings Smile.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 28—Mickey Cochrane, fighting the greatest battle of his life, held his own today against the injuries that sent him to a hospital after he was felled by a pitched ball in the Tiger-Yankee game, Tuesday.

While reporting the condition of the fiery leader of the Tigers as "unchanged," after he had showed improvement early yesterday, the attending physicians emphasized that he still was in a very serious condition.

Fear was expressed that meningitis might develop within the next four or five days in which case complications might lead to paralysis.

For the first time since he was moved to the hospital after one of Irving (Bump) Hadley's pitches fractured his skull, Cochrane was permitted a visitor other than his wife, yesterday. The visitor was Cy Perkins, coach of the Tigers, who informed Cochrane that his Tigers had beaten the Yanks, 5 to 4 in 13 innings, for the only Detroit victory of the three-game series.

News of the triumph brought a smile to "Iron Mike's" tired mouth.

PRINTED SOFTBALL SCHEDULES READY

Printed softball schedules for the three organized senior leagues are ready for distribution, it was announced today by Elmer Shaw, Y office secretary and secretary of the softball commission. The schedules, 1,000 of them, are available at the Y office. The programs include all of the games for the season together with the fields on which the contests are to be played.

THERE'S NO LAW AGAINST PALM BEACH COMFORT

They'd arrest you if you looked as cool as you feel in Palm Beach.

Not that the new Palm Beach Sea Foam White or the new extra-light, sun-repellent Solar Weave don't look cool. But the smart Goodall tailoring and the fit and set of a Palm Beach suit would suggest a much heavier and more expensive fabric than Palm Beach really is.

And—if you are a bit sedate—consider this year's new, rich, darker-tone mixtures which look like costly imported worsteds.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, May 28—The goats out on Long Island are getting fat eating Braddock-Schmeling fight posters off the walls of the Garden bowl. Al Schact, baseball's clown prince, has been made a member of the International Association of Police Chiefs. Hya, chief.

Nobody blames Bump Hadley for the accident to Mickey Cochrane, but old Bump is broken-hearted just the same. Philadelphia may put in a bid for the Barney Ross-Ceferino title fight. Ross is a prime favorite in Quakertown and the bout might do $60,000. What kills Mike Jacobs' heart is that should Braddock and Louis draw a million dollar gate in Chicago, Uncle Sam will take $315,000 of it for taxes.

Experts back from Pittsburgh say "Wild" Bill Mehlhorn will have to ditch that 10 gallon hat before he can qualify for the $500 prize a golfing magazine is offering for the year's best dressed golfer. So far Johnny Farrell is leading by a couple of sweaters.

Virgil Davis and Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati catchers, have to wear especially made shin guards. They turn so big they can't begin to get into the regular equipment. Here's one for the book: Four big league teams—Athletics, Phillies, Reds and Senators—will appear on a charity baseball program at Charleston, W. Va., June 11. After the A's trect the reds and the Phils take on the Senators, Charleston and Portsmouth of the Middle Atlantic League will trot out under the arcs for a nightcap.

MARIONITES TO PLAY AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Drake's Tavern softball team will travel to Upper Sandusky tonight for a game with the Elks team of that city. The contest is called for 6:15 o'clock and will be played at Harrison-Smith park.

In their opener last week the Drake team trounced the Tower Club of Ohio State university, 7 to 4. The Tower outfit will come to Marion, June 4, for a return game with the Drake aggregation. Joe Robbins, manager of the Tavern club, is planning other home and foreign games with out-of-town teams.

SETS MARK TRYING OUT FOR AUTO RACE

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28—Joe Thorne, the 22-year-old millionaire sportsman, had the distinction today of owning the fastest and slowest speedsters to qualify so far for the 500-mile race here Monday.

Thorne has entered six mounts in the speedway competition, and five already have qualified.

Jimmie Snyder of Chicago, onetime milkman, blazed his way to racing glory in a Thorne creation by averaging 125.237 miles an hour, a new record, for the 25 qualification miles. Thorne, who has speedboats and airplanes galore in his stable, appeared happier over Snyder's showing than over qualifying himself later at 115.602 miles an hour.

KING CARL MAKES IT 24 IN A ROW BY NOSING CINCINNATI

Trosky's Triple With Bases Loaded Gives Indians Victory Over Athletics.

BY SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Carl Hubbell, who thinks he's lucky to have piled up the longest winning streak in baseball history, is sticking out his chin now.

From all indications, he's not only going right on with his streak, but he's going to do it the hard way—against the toughest opponents and in the toughest spots.

King Carl was riding on his 24th straight triumph today, four better than the previous all-time high. Since he passed the 20-game mark, every win has been achieved either at the expense of the National league's lustiest larrupers or in a situation that would undoubtedly have put the whammy on a less masterful moundsman.

Between May 13 and last Monday, he whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates twice and the St. Louis Cardinals once, an accomplishment that's not to be sneezed at in any pitcher, whether he's on a winning streak or just earning his pay the easy way. Yesterday, only three days after beating the Bucs for the second time, he ambled into the eighth inning of the Giants' go with the Cincinnati Reds and found a club that already had sent two Giant pitchers to the showers, was on its home lot with the score tied, and had a pitcher in there in young Lefty Grissom who was anything but a pushover for the Giants.

So Carl faced just six men in two innings, and made all of them strangers as far as first base was concerned. The final score was 3-2, with Mel Ott's ninth-inning homer turning the trick for Hubbell and the Giants.

The victory boosted the Giants to within a game of the pace-setting Pirates, whose tilt with the Dodgers was rained out after 3½ innings. The third-place Cardinals dropped farther back by losing an 8-7 battle of homers to the Boston Bees, with Roy Johnson's two-run pinch four-bagger in the eighth putting the game on ice.

Detroit's Tigers finally caught up with the New York Yankees and, in the American league's longest game of the season, finished on top 5-4 in 13 innings, despite Lou Gehrig's three-run homer. The Cleveland Indians made a clean sweep of their series with the Athletics by registering an 8-7 win on Hal Trosky's triple with the bases loaded.

The day's best full-length pitching efforts were turned in by Buck Walters, the Phillies' converted outfielder and Monte Weaver, Washington's curve-baller. Walters fanned four and allowed nine hits as the Phils smashed the Chicago Cubs 11-2. Weaver let the White Sox down with half a dozen safeties and the Senators came through 2-1. The Browns-Red Sox tilt at Boston was rained out.

Dean, Hubbell Vie for Honors

"DEAN and Hubbell" means plenty of trouble. That's the slogan of National League batsmen, and there's much more truth than poetry in it.

These two great mound mechanics have dominated the pitching scene for the past few years and this season both got off to sensational starts. "Ol' Diz" and King Carl are so far above the other hurlers in either loop that it's almost funny to mention another slinger in the same breath with them. Young Bob Feller threatened to cut in on their glory this spring, but the Indians' phenom was laid up with a serious arm injury at the start of the campaign.

Hub's consecutive game winning streak has caused him to be the center of much controversy. Last season it ended at 16 straight, and Carl's boosters want to carry the streak over into the 1937 campaign. They count out his World Series setback as not being a regular season game. At any rate, Hubbell's mark will go into the record books with the notation that the streak was spread over two seasons.

The great Dizzy Dean, somewhat annoyed by the attention given Hubbell, is out to gain undisputed possession of the hurling crown. He says he'll surely win 30 games and may reach 35, and he's probably right.

KENTON, May 28—William J. INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE SOFTBALL GAMES SHELVED BY RAIN

Teams To Renew Activity Tuesday Night; Monday Loop To Meet Wednesday.

Rain last night halted activity in the Industrial softball league and made it almost a clean sweep for the week in playing havoc with the playground schedule. Regular games of league No. 2 and No. 1 were played Monday and Tuesday nights, while the remainder of the schedule was rained out.

Wednesday night contests, which were No. 1 Sunday school games postponed from the previous week, and last night's activity, centering about the Industrial loop, were cancelled by rain. The precipitation brought an early close to this week's schedule and activity will not be resumed until next Tuesday night.

The regular Monday night games of the No. 2 loop have been delayed to Wednesday night, because of the double holiday. Regular Tuesday night games of the No. 1 league will be played as scheduled and the Industrial teams will see action in Thursday night games.

BY HELEN ROWLAND

JUST A "SPRING SONG"

It happens every spring to every housewife!

She's heard the same old "song" over and over again; it goes like this: "Gosh, Honey, y'look all-in!" Why do you make such a big fuss over a little spring-cleaning job? What this house needs is system—that's all! Why do you let a little thing like this get you down?"

For, alas, there never lived a husband who didn't think that the Chateau de Cande, or Buckingham Palace, could be spring-cleaned in an hour or so, if a woman would only get things "organized" and use a little brain-matter beforehand. What she lacks is the ability to make all the details co-ordinate.

• • •

It seems that if you follow his "system" all you have to do is to get the work "planned-out" and then give orders. After that, you can sit down at the piano and merrily tinkle out Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" while the work goes on as automatically and smoothly as a Rolls Royce on a new boulevard. Just a matter of "routine!"

Whoopee! Beds fall apart like a row of chorus-girls doing a marching number, and dust themselves with a few high kicks. Blankets and comforters shimmy themselves out onto the clothes-line to be sunkissed, and then return at eventide to cuddle cozily in the cedar chest for the summer.

Furs scramble out of the closets, take an airing, sprinkle themselves with camphor, and give the merry ha-ha to the moths as they slip back—each into his own individual tar-bag.

• • •

According to his "system," painters, window-cleaners, and handy-men will come running breathlessly at the first sweet note of your voice over the telephone. Every man knows his exact job and rushes cheerfully through it with a song on his lips.

Dishes slide off the cupboard shelves while the new shelf covering hops on. The breeze through the open windows blows a years dust off the walls, the clock washes its own hands and face and the piano polishes itself with its own legs.

Doors never stick, nobody ever falls out, plumbers and storage men always arrive on the dot; the painters read your mind and paint things the exact shade you wanted. Nothing can possibly go wrong—if you organize—and use your brain!

Of course, there are some who will tire of playing Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" as there are other women who couldn't play it anyhow. Oh well, let them play. "Live and Working on the Railroad" is cause that's how every wife feels after spring cleaning—system—no system!

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, May 29

THE LUNAR and mutual aspects having influence on the affairs of this day indicate very favorable and profitable conditions with the energies under control and the mental faculties keyed to unusual, creative expression. Elements of originality and genius may attract the recognition and support of those in power and authority, making for success and standing in the business as well as artistic and career affairs.

Those whose birthday it is, are born of a year of advancement, enlightenment and probably public recognition for some outstanding initiative or talent in some creative order. This governs the artistic, professional and social life, promising lucrative financial returns as well as social status. Those able to rise to these advanced high standards in unusual lines or enterprises may be approached with assurance.

A child born on this day may be an expression, progressive and ambitious, with a talent of unusual scope or expression attracting the support of highly influential personages. It should be successful or perhaps conspicuous career.

An airplane designed primarily for inverted flights has been equipped with pontoons for use on sea, the rear ends of which are hinged and fitted with shock absorbers that act as skids to brake the plane on landing.

Wilhelm, receiver for the Citizens' Building & Loan Co., for common pleas court to fix the status of approximately 500 account holders either as stockholders or depositors. Several others included in the 500 have filed similar pleadings.

Mr. Hipsher, acting as administrator of the estate of Lafayette Hipsher, said the estate has an account of $591.10 in the closed institution and that it was understood to have been a savings account. He asks the court to declare the account a deposit and that the estate be paid a percentage of the receiver's distributions. William P. Maloney is the attorney for Mr. Hipsher.
